

Medisystems Nurse-Call central Display Consoles are placed on the nurse-station desk top or mounted on the wall nearby. The console displays the calling bed numbers, the nature of the call - Normal, Emergency and the time of the day.

Calling bed numbers remain on display till each call is attended to and completed. Optional features include Emergency toilet units, shower pull cords and door display units.

Nurse-Station
Central Displays

Nurse-Call Bed Units are mounted behind the bed directly on the wall, or on the bed-head panel, and are linked by cable with the central display console. Its coloured lamps clearly indicate the call status.

It has a prominent reset button to press after the call is completed. The unit is also linked by cable with the patient handset, the door display and the emergency unit in the toilet.

Door display units are wall mounted at the room entrance and carry bright lamps which can be viewed throughout the corridor. Call status is clearly visible at all times. The units are aesthetically designed.

Medisystems supplies a patient handset with its nurse-call systems with easily accessible membrane switch for calling a nurse and indicating call status. Handsets are safe to use, rugged and reliable.

Cradle safely docks patients handsets on wall, bed or bed-head panel for use when needed.

Emergency alert units are supplied for mounting within the patient toilet. They are water splash protected and extremely rugged. They can be wall mounted close to the water closet or ceiling mounted with a pull cord for installation within the shower area.
